【In conclusion】

Stay alert.
Take thorough measures to prevent infection!

This month is critical for both socioeconomic activities and the prevention of re-spread of infection. Spring is a time when people move around and have more opportunities to get together, such as during spring break, graduation ceremonies, and farewell parties following personnel transfers. The re-spread of infection (rebound) during this period must be stopped at all costs. In order not to let the efforts of the prefectural residents, the cooperation of businesses, medical personnel, and those who support our social activities go to waste, we will work together with everyone during the "period for preventing the re-spread of infection" to ensure thorough infection control measures without relaxing. Thank you for your understanding and cooperation.

The greatest countermeasure is ourselves. Let us protect our loved ones and irreplaceable lives by taking thorough measures to prevent infection and acting prudently with the awareness that we ourselves are protecting each other.
